JOHNSON'S REVENGE.
A Wronged Husband Hunts the Destroyer of His Home.

And Finding Him Slaughtered Him Without Warning—Sequel to the Johnson Tragedy at Indianapolis Last Year.

GREENVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 24.—Col. E. T. Johnson, special United States pension examiner, who formerly had his headquarters at this place, and who was killed at Indianapolis on account of supposed criminal intimacy with Col. Ed. Henry, of that place, killed Henry at Greenville, Tenn., this morning at 9 o'clock.

As stated above, the beginning of the trouble was in a scandal. More than a year ago Henry suffered the wife of Johnson at Greenville. When the matter became public, Johnson's wife went to Indianapolis to her people. Maj. Henry followed, but her son threatened to shoot Henry. The son informed his father, who was then at Knoxville. A correspondence between Johnson and his wife ensued, in which the wife acknowledged her guilt. Soon after she committed suicide, being as the Johnsons swore to kill Henry on sight, but Henry had so far eluded him.

—The train leaves for Beloit at 6:40 this evening. Be on hand with your torch.

—The Bower City band will accompany the republican battalion to Beloit this evening.

—Every republican should join the grand republican torch-light procession in Beloit this evening.

—One hundred and sixty-four ladies and gentlemen boarded the excursion train for Chicago this morning.

—The home of Conductor and Mrs. L. F. Horne, corner of Washington and Pleasant streets, is rejoicing over the advent of a handsome baby girl.

—Mr. Edwin G. and Miss Mattie B. Fifield handomely entertained a company of their young friends last evening at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Fifield, South Main street.

—Judge Bennett has presided at nine murder trials since he has been on the bench, and in eight of the cases the defendants have been convicted of murder in the first degree. In the other, the defendant was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to prison for seven years.

—"Wonder if Mr. Bennett will put down a concrete walk around his block?" is the remark of many pedestrians passing on the new concrete walk in front of the Cook and the Phelps blocks, on West Milwaukee street. Mr. Bennett is figuring on something, but we do not know whether it is on Blaine's majority, or on concrete sidewalks.

—At the meeting of the Blaine and Logan Invincibles, last evening, several promotions were made in the line of commanding officers. Frank N. Webster was elected captain of the Flambeau company. Lieutenant B. F. Moore was elected captain of company B; Dennis D. Davey, first lieutenant, and S. C. Barnham second lieutenant of the same company.

—The Beloit Free Press of last evening publishes the list of march for the torch light procession this evening as follows: "Starting from State street, up Broad to Park avenue, Park avenue to Bushnell, Bushnell to College, College to School, School to Fourth (west side), Fourth to D, D to Bluff, Bluff to Bridge, Bridge to State. The procession will be marshaled by P. Johnson, Esq." Our people acquainted with the streets in Beloit, will see that the march will not be tiresome.

—The entertainment to be given by Mrs. J. B. Day at Cannon's hall next Monday evening, September 29th, promises to be of unusual interest, among those who take part in the programme are Mrs. Earl DeLoe, of Madison, one of the most popular vocalists in the state, Prof. F. W. Spencer, the talented violin and guitar soloist, Mr. J. D. King, pianist, Smith & Corlies orchestra in concert programme, and Mrs. Day herself in an entire new programme of readings. Admission 25 cents. Children 15 cents.

—Mrs. Lily Woodruff, daughter of the Hon. James Sutherland, is the composer of a piece of music for the piano called "Animation," and the title well suits the spirit of the composition. It is eleven pages in length, is full of brilliant passages, and promises to become quite popular. It is published by Lee & Walker, of Philadelphia, and is dedicated to the composer's niece, Miss Cora Sutherland. The friends of Mrs. Woodruff will be highly gratified at her success in musical composition. She has certainly done herself much credit in giving the musical world "Animation."

HO FOR BELLOIT.

Train leaves the Depot at 6:40; the train leaves Beloit at 11 p. m.

The indications are that between three and four hundred republicans will go from Janesville to Beloit this evening to take part in the torch light procession. There will be plenty of room in the cars, and every republican who can, should go and take a torch and help swell the number. Blockford telephoned the Beloit committee to-day that they would be on hand with eight hundred torches, and the little village of Clinton asks for room for three hundred and fifty. The indications are that it will be a monster demonstration.

The Bower City band will accompany the Janesville party.

Let every one go and add one to the immense crowd.

OBITUARY.

HENRY S. HAY.

In the death of Captain Henry S. Hay, which took place September 20th, 1884, at his late residence, South Main street, Janesville, we have to chronicle the departure of a faithful soldier, a good citizen, and a most estimable man. He was a native of Winfield, Harkness county, New York, born in 1831. In 1850 he came west to Champagne, Ill., and entered the army at the first call in 1861, as a private in Co. I, 2d Illinois Cavalry. For two years he was in active and arduous service in this organization, and greatly distinguished himself for his intrepidity and soldier-like conduct. In the engagement at Holly Springs his bravery drew special attention from his military superiors, and led subsequently to his promotion to become captain. About this time, from great exposure, he contracted the seed of disease, which developed into the malady that rendered him a cripple for years and finally terminated his life. On account of impaired health, he was transferred to the command of an important supply post on President's Island near Memphis, which position he held until the close of the war. He then returned to Champagne and was married in 1867 to Miss Patty Hedges, who, with their only son Joe, survives him. Failing health compelled him to seek a change of climate, and he removed with his family to Johnston, in 1873, when they resided until last spring, when they made their home in Janesville. Of his own family connections there is but one surviving brother—Albert H. Hay, of Illinois, who with his wife was present at the funeral. For years Captain Hay was a confirmed invalid, paralyzed his principle trouble. During the latter part of his life he was almost entirely deprived of the use of his limbs. He bore up under his great affliction with exemplary patience and was calm and uncomplaining to the last. His personal character was pure and above reproach. None knew him but to love and respect him. He was a thorough believer in the realities of the christian religion and died in the exercise of ardent faith in a crucified Redeemer.

At his request, Rev. D. B. Jackson, of Emerald Grove, his old pastor, whose services in the Johnston Congregational church he had attended, officiated at the funeral, which took place at his late residence, Monday, September 23; and the choir of the same church, by request, rendered the music. A large number of his old neighbors and friends from Johnston and other places attended the funeral. Past 10, of the Grand Army of the Republic accompanied the remains to Oak Hill cemetery and conducted the burial services in accordance with their belief and impressive ritual.

"How sleep the brave who seek to rest With all their country's wishes blest."

HENRY W. ASHCRAFT.

The remains of the late Henry W. Ashcraft arrived in this city yesterday noon, and were taken from the cars directly to the residence of Mrs. Rachel G. Boers, No. 35 Clinton street, first ward. Mr. Ashcraft died in Webster City, Iowa, on Monday. For many years the deceased was a resident of this city, where he had many friends. The funeral was held at ten o'clock this morning, from the residence of Mrs. Boers, and was attended by a large number of friends. Rev. W. F. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducting the service. The remains were then taken in charge by the Masonic fraternity, of which the deceased was a member, and taken to Oak Hill cemetery, and buried in accordance with the ritual of that order.

The Port Atkinson Murder.

Judge Bennett returned from Jefferson to-day, having finished the September term of court there. This morning he sentenced John Slag and his wife, both convicted of murder in the first degree, to imprisonment for life. They were found guilty of poisoning their infant child two weeks old, last July. The husband is fifty years old, and the wife 35, both stolid, ignorant Germans. They have three children living, two boys and a little girl, and the motive for the crime is supposed to have been a desire to get rid of the unwelcome little one as an incumbrance in their poverty-stricken home. The husband is lazy and shiftless, but the women seemed to have been industrious, and to have gone out washing to support the family. The child died in the night, and next morning the woman went out to work for a family in the city, but nothing about the small corpse at home to any one. That night the body was nailed up in a rude box of fence boards and at three o'clock on the following morning was buried in a shallow hole dug in the garden, and all traces of the exact spot obliterated by heaping up the ground for some distance about it. The suspicious of the neighbors were aroused by the actions of the woman and the authorities were informed, and after first saying that the child was buried in the cemetery the woman pointed out the grave in the garden. The body was exhumed, and a Chicago chemist found in the contents of the stomach, and produced upon the trial, arsenic enough to kill a man. Both denied all knowledge of any arsenic on the trial, but this morning when brought up for sentence the man said that the truth of the matter was, that he was not the father of the child, and that he made trouble with his wife about it, and she poisoned it. The woman said she had arsenic for the headache, and accidentally put milk, which was fed to the baby in a cup which contained some of the drug, that she was guilty and desired that her husband should not suffer. Two other of their children died soon after birth, and there is a grave suspicion that this is not their only crime. Neither of the prisoners manifested the slightest emotion throughout the trial, or any sorrow or contrition for the inhuman deed. Some little sympathy is felt for the woman, who is thought to have participated in the murder, through fear of her husband, but in law that fact would make her no less guilty, and the public generally will feel only satisfaction at the closing of the prison doors upon lives so evil and depraved.

When the Swallows Return to Fly.

At the approach of autumn it is the proper time to consider one's finances and to resolve to more closely observe the dates appointed for, and to be constantly represented more or less in every grand monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, which next (the 17th) will take place October 14th, 1884, of which all information can be had of M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., on application.

The drawing of jurors for the November term of the circuit court for Rock county took place at the office of Mr. A. W. Baldwin, clerk of the court, at ten o'clock this morning. Clerk Baldwin manipulated the little wheel and was watched "according to law" by Justice M. S. Prichard, and Sheriff B. B. Harper. The lucky names drawn from the wheel were:

William Brandt, 5th ward, Janesville.

John Brown, 1st ward, Janesville.

John Harvey, Johnston.

Ed. Klakely, Union.

W. W. Dykeman, Bradford.

Of the thirty-six names drawn, it will be seen that the city of Janesville has twelve. Last spring, when the jurors were drawn for the April term, the city of Beloit suffered in like manner, and only two or three names were drawn from Janesville. The November term of the court will commence on Wednesday, November 5th, the day after the presidential election.

Time in Making Powder.

Prof. R. A. Williams, D. D., Medical University, Buffalo, N. Y., who is the highest authority, says that "Calcium Tartrate (improperly called Tartrate of Lime), advertised as the lime found in Baking Powders is derived from the wines that produce Crum of Tartar. It is a constituent of the grape and other fruits, and absolutely harmless."
